

***University of Wisconsin Infant, Early Childhood and Family Mental Health Capstone Certificate Program

Applications are still being accepted for the University of Wisconsin Infant, Early Childhood and Family Mental Health Capstone Certificate Program for the class of 2018-2019.

The University of Wisconsin Infant, Early Childhood and Family Mental Health Capstone Certificate Program is an excellent opportunity for professionals in Wisconsin to learn about and gain skills related to the mental health and well-being of infants, young children and their families in the prenatal and postpartum periods through early childhood. This Program leads to increased knowledge and skills to help ameliorate and treat early parent-child disturbances before they become more serious disorders. This program is sponsored by the Department of Psychiatry, University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health.

Application:

Participation is by application and enrollment is limited. Apply soon for admission and scholarships. Applications will continue to be accepted, as space is available. Information about the Capstone Certificate Program and application guidance, including the application form, is available at this site: <http://infantfamilymentalhealth.psychiatry.wisc.edu/>.

Scholarships:

We work with each applicant to identify sources of support available to help them with tuition. We consider the resources an employer may be able to contribute, what the individual is able to contribute and what amount of scholarship funding may be needed to participate in this Capstone Certificate Program.

Participants:

This Capstone Certificate Program is an interdisciplinary, one-year academic program for practicing professionals with a minimum of a Bachelor's Degree who provide consultation and relationship-based services to families in the prenatal and postpartum periods and for children ages birth through five years. This program is designed for:

- Licensed mental health and health care professionals in clinical, counseling or school psychology, social work, marriage and family therapy, nursing, psychiatry, pediatrics or family medicine.

- Professionals from the fields of early childhood who provide direct services to young children and their families in programs such as Home Visiting, Birth to 3, Early Childhood Special Education, Early Head Start, Head Start, Childcare, and Child Protective Services/Child Welfare.

Following a cohort model, enrolled participants are provided with three days of class instruction each month as well as a Mindfulness class and small Reflective Practice Mentoring Groups and individualized opportunities to reflect upon and integrate program content into their professional work experiences. These experiences contribute to an increased knowledge base and skills in providing appropriate screening, assessment, diagnostic and therapeutic or supportive intervention services to support the mental health of infants, young children and their families.

What Do Graduates Earn?

Those who complete the Capstone Certificate Program will earn 10-12 graduate course credits from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.
